FEARS are mounting that The Whittington Hospital could lose its A&E department in the same week as plans for a cost-cutting merger with the Royal Free in Hampstead were revealed by health chiefs.

Proposals to merge the two hospitals have been met with widespread concern from health campaigners and politicians in Haringey, with Hornsey and Wood Green MP Lynne Featherstone warning that The Whittington Hospital in Highgate Hill is "not safe in their hands" and may lose its vital A&E department.

A letter written by Rachel Tyndall, chief executive responsible for all north central London health services, and leaked to Ms Featherstone and seen by the Advertiser this week, sets out four options for a reshuffle of the area. All four would see The Whittington downgraded to status of "local hospital" with no emergency department or specialist services.

Health chiefs have insisted that no decisions have yet been made behind closed doors and that the options are still being drawn up. But critics have warned that, because the hospitals provide similar services, a restructure under the Healthcare For London plans could follow the same controversial route as they did with Barnet

Hospital and Enfield's Chase Farm hospitals.

In the near future, Barnet Hospital will be expected to take an influx of patients from neighbouring borough Enfield when Chase Farm's A&E, maternity and children's services are cut back, and Barnet patients will have to travel to the hospital in Enfield for planned operations. The changes across London have been masterminded by Lord Ara Darzi, the government's former health tsar.

Ms Featherstone has already vowed to fight the plans which could affect the thousands of Haringey residents for whom The Whittington is the High-vis teams sent out to clear up the streets of Haringey

By Lucy Purdy

UNIFORMED teams have been deployed on to the streets of Haringey to deal with crimes such as fly-tipping, graffiti and dog fouling.

The new street enforcement teams will be Haringey Council's "eyes and ears" on the street to seek out anti-social behaviour during regular patrols on extended hours on seven days of the week. They will also keep an eagle eye out for fly-posting, littering and illegal street trading.

As well as responding to environmental problems such as abandoned cars and dumped rubbish, they will talk to residents and business-owners about local problems and how they can be tackled.

They will be backed up by the council's enforcement officers to deal with the most difficult environmental crimes.

Councillor Nilgun Canver, cabinet member for enforcement and safer communities, explained: "Our enforcement teams already do a great job in keeping our streets cleaner and safer. But this new approach will ensure that we can deal with local problems even more quickly and effectively.

ANDREW WARD

"There will be a named officer for each ward – a visible presence on our streets. They will also mean better co-ordination between services and work with residents, businesses and councillors to identify and deal with problems. Each ward will have its own priorities."

The new teams will have a range of powers at their disposal, including fixed penalty notices, compliance notices, cautions and the possibility of prosecution for serious or repeat offending. They will also liaise with other parts of the council if they need to be involved to deal with a specific issue.

Report a problem to the street enforcement teams on 020 8489 1000 or email enforcement@haringey.gov.uk

New charges for Barker and Owen

TWO brothers who were jailed over the death of Baby Peter Connelly could be charged with torturing their elderly grandmother 14 years ago.

A cold-case review into an alleged attack on 82-year-old Hilda Barker in 1995 has been submitted to the Crown Prosecution Service by Kent Police. Steven Barker, 33, and 37-year-old Jason Owen were both charged with assaulting Mrs Barker in 1995 in an attempt to force her to change her will. Before her death, she told police the pair had locked her in a wardrobe at her house in Whitstable. The will was later declared invalid.

Along with Baby Peter's mother, the brothers were convicted of allowing his death. The 17-month-old had more than 50 injuries when he died in August 2007 at a house in Penshurst Road, Tottenham.

A Kent Police spokesman said: "We have carried out a case review of the investigation and a file is being submitted to the Crown Prosecution Service to seek their view on whether there is sufficient evidence for prosecution against any person."

nearest hospital. Under one of the proposals, North Middlesex University Hospital, in Edmonton, which north Haringey residents use, could also see services cuts – a departure from the controversial clinical strategy which was approved last year after a High Court battle with opponents.

"I'm extremely worried," Ms Featherstone told the Advertiser.

"I was shocked to read these proposals. I'll fight tooth and nail if they try to close or even reduce A&E services at The Whittington.

"Given the level of need locally, the idea of people having to travel to the Royal Free, which has appalling public transport access, does not seem to be designed with local people in mind at all. It will mean people will have longer journeys – for some it will be an impossible journey, let alone if you're ill or in need of care, and if you have to go by car there's nowhere to park.

"It makes sense to merge some services, to have, for example, all liver or kidney services in one place, but this mustn't apply to A&E and maternity. We need local A&E services 24 hours a day. I'll be contacting as many people as I can to let them know this is happening – they need an opportunity to respond in time.

"Health service is not just about clinical excellence, it is about what people want and need."

A joint statement issued by the Royal Free and The Whittington revealed that discussions about how they could merge have been taking place for the past three months but both stressed that patients were at the heart of talks.

Rob Larkman, chief executive of The Whittington, said: "Early discussions between the trusts have been positive and we are now investigating the case for a merger. We have asked the team of senior clinicians and managers from both trusts to look

Patient power: A similar merger between Barnet and Chase Farm hospitals led to services such as A&E being cut, which prompted a number of mass demonstrations into the proposition and weigh up the pros and cons. Any new organisation would have to be strong enough to protect our hospital services and be financially robust."

'I'll fight tooth and nail if they try to close our A&E services'

David Sloman, Royal Free chief executive, added: "We're now taking these discussions to the next level by looking at the arguments – for and against – the merger of our trusts into a single organisation. It is important to emphasise that these are very early days in this process and this is only one of a number of options being considered by both trusts. If progress is made and the work continues, there will be no decisions without full and thorough engagement with key stakeholders, particularly our staff."

John Lister, from the pressure group London Health Emergency, believes cash considerations are being put before patient care.

"Both The Whittington and the Royal Free are busy hospitals and they are not redundant in any way. Across London, 1.9 million people are being diverted away from their local A&Es. Health trusts should be looking at lobbying the government rather than proposing cuts that'll leave patients vulnerable. The only reason to do it is savings.

"Haringey patients will face longer journeys and longer queues when they get there. It is also questionable that North Middlesex will remain an acute hospital.

"I don't think there is anything to say this is going to change things for the better for patients."

The respective hospital trusts are due to discuss the plans further during board meetings in January. news.haringey@nlhnews.co.uk

Neighbouring hospitals show views ignored

IT HAS taken since 2005 for health chiefs to enforce plans to downgrade frontline services at Enfield's Chase Farm Hospital so they can be moved to Barnet Hospital.

The initial Healthy Hospitals plan to close the A&E department at the hospital was scuppered under the weight of public opposition, but a year later the same proposals were on the cards under the new guise of Your Health, Your Future.

Plans included the relocation of maternity and children's services to Barnet and North Middlesex University Hospital in Edmonton.

Despite 30,000-signature petitions, mass demonstrations outside the hospital and marches, as well as a public consultation in which the majority opposed the plans, hospital chiefs went ahead.

A plea to the government led to a review by respected Independent Reconfiguration Panel but, despite concluding public consultation was flawed, its members decided the proposals could still go ahead.

Campaigners pushed for a judicial review in the High Court, which was backed by Enfield Council and Barnet councillors, but barristers for the Secretary of State for Health managed to get the review thrown out on technical grounds.

Since April, residents have been waiting to find out when the plans will be implemented, how much it will cost and what effect it will have – all of which have yet to be decided.

Paternity test off shelves amid fear of upset

By Lucy Purdy

A PHARMACIST in Crouch End has refused to stock a new DNA paternity test because she fears tests being done without counselling could lead to emotional heartache and even family break-ups.

Aruna Bhatia believes the tests – which are becoming widely available over-the-counter in London for the first time, should only be carried out with full counselling and consultation. For £29.99, people who want to determine the fatherhood of a child can buy the kits and take swabs which are then sent to a laboratory, incurring a further fee. The company claims the product helps its clients find “great peace of mind”.

Mrs Bhatia, who runs Amy Pharmacy in Park Road with husband Bharat, was given an example of the kits by specialist laboratory company Anglian DNA earlier in the year but has now decided to withdraw it from her shelves.

She said: “These kits could have a big impact, especially if people were to get results they weren’t expecting. They mean you have to get swabs from the mother, father and child and I think the tests should be done with proper counselling. I would be very concerned it could have an impact on the break-up of a family.”

Mrs Bhatia’s view echoes that of Josephine Quintavalle, director of public interest group Comment On Ethical Reproduction who warned the tests had “huge implications” for families.

Refusal: Aruna Bhatia won't stock the tests

“Children’s rights should be protected first and foremost,” she said. “What are you going to do when you’re taking samples from inside a child’s cheek and they ask why? Say, ‘because I’m not really sure you’re my child?’”

Amy Pharmacy also offers emergency contraception and free chlamydia home-testing kits under the 4YP sexual health scheme which is run in conjunction with NHS Haringey.

Luxury pool cars giving gang cred a positive spin

By Lucy Purdy

GANG members in Haringey are sharing luxury pool cars in order to bolster their street reputation and intimidate their rivals.

Flashy vehicles such as BMWs are being pooled by up to ten gang members and luxury vehicles are being hired by gangsters unable to afford their own set of wheels. In some cases criminals are cruising around in cars worth up to £60,000, but are closely monitored by police chiefs, wise to the practice in a world where image is everything.

Detective Chief Inspector Ron Shanks said: "Generally gang members can't afford to buy luxury cars so they share cars on short-term hire or sometimes they might take out a week-hire on a luxury vehicle in the run-up to a special event.

"When police identify that a car is being used by someone associated with gangs, the details are circulated and if it's stopped being driven by anyone other than who's on the paperwork, they will be arrested."

The strategy means that even gang members receiving Jobseeker's Allowance and housing benefit have access to valuable cars which are sometimes used to ferry knives and guns around. Under Operation Neon, Haringey police use number plate recognition technology to target those linked to violent crime and officers are running Operation Reclaim in which uninsured drivers' cars are seized.

Officers in the force's proactive units, including the Crime Squad, Q-Cars, the Priority Crime Team and Borough Action Team, are poised to strike whenever they receive information about criminals racing through the borough's streets. Police also work with Haringey Black Independent Advisory Group on projects to reduce hostility between members.

Police seize drug factory

A MAN has been arrested on suspicion of producing cannabis after police discovered a drugs factory at a flat in the Frederick Messer Estate in Tottenham.

Officers forced their way into the property on a drugs search warrant, following complaints from residents, and found a number of plants as well as lighting equipment and fans. The 38-year-old man was arrested and bailed pending analysis of the plants.

Anyone with information about drugs in Seven Sisters should call the police team on 020 8721 2671.

Bargain shop sparks boom

PRIMARK'S arrival in Wood Green has attracted record numbers of shoppers to The Mall shopping centre.

The bargain fashion chain, which opened its doors to an excited scrum on November 12, attracted 41,488 shoppers on the first day. Other shops have also benefited from the store opening in place of the former Pearsons department store.

"Our sales are up massively," said Justin Simmonds, store manager from Wilkinsons.

"Last weekend was the busiest on record for this time of year, with sales up a third."

Going with the 'fro at TreeHouse

X-FACTOR evictee Jamie Archer was welcomed by crowds of fans as he paid a visit to Muswell Hill last Thursday.

Following Dannii Minogue's decision to let the public decide his fate, Jamie became the sixth act to be evicted from the ITV show last Sunday.

He visited TreeHouse, a national charity for autism education, in Woodside Avenue, to greet fans, perform and sign autographs.

The 34-year-old from Putney became known as Jamie Afro due to his distinctive haircut and sang Sex On Fire by Kings Of Leon in his first audition. X-Factor judge Louis Walsh called him a Lenny Kravitz impersonator in the fourth live show. Jamie was voted out in week six after ending up in the bottom two with Lloyd Daniels.

Eight months in jail for sergeant who attacked colleague at Christmas party

A POLICE sergeant from Highgate has been handed an eight-month sentence for sexually assaulting a colleague after their work Christmas party last year.

David Stevens, of Baronsclere Court, Avenue Road, had pleaded not guilty to the sexual assault of a man in a hotel room in Elstree on December 5.

The 37-year-old assaulted his colleague who had fallen asleep at the Edgwarebury Corus Hotel after dinner, a disco and late-night drinking.

Stevens was sentenced on Friday after being convicted last month at St Albans Crown Court. The judge also ordered him to sign the sex offenders' register for ten years.

Detective Inspector Mark Brown, of Hertfordshire Police, said: "This was a difficult case which was no doubt distressing for the victim. He was fully supported by police throughout this investigation and is determined to move forward with his life.

"We treat all incidents of sexual assault seriously. The victim in this instance showed great courage in coming forward.

"All victims of sexual assault, including men, should not be anxious about contacting police."

Calling absent fathers

Debate to help stamp out gangs and violence

By Lucy Purdy

THE void left by absent fathers was at the centre of a heated debate on gangs and knife crime at Tottenham Hotspur's stadium.

Fathers from every walk of life rubbed shoulders with youngsters from the Kickz football programme and community leaders during the Man-

Age conference last Monday – designed to address issues of fatherhood and manhood in Haringey's black community.

It was hosted by the Haringey Black Independent Advisory Group and led by secretary Bobby Martin who opened the floor on discussions including what it takes to be a good father.

One man said: "For the first three years of my life my father wasn't there but now he's one of the most integral people in my life. He wasn't a leader at first but he became one."

Another added: "If you let those bad vibes take over, they will remain with you until today. But if you take them on they will help give you a purpose in life."

Now there's a nice surprise

Brave 12-year-old helps bring rape conviction of teen cousin

A 12-YEAR-OLD girl from Tottenham who was forced into marrying and having sex with her teenage cousin has been praised for being "truly brave" by police who helped bring the relatives responsible to justice.

The girl's father and the parents of the 16-year-old she was forced to marry were all convicted by a jury at Wood Green Crown Court last Wednesday of inciting a child to engage in sexual activity. The police found out about the illegal marriage when the girl's mother rang them in a panic in March last year, saying her daughter had been taken without her permission, to her uncle's house in south London.

The girl's father had staged the illegal marriage between the girl and her cousin at the house before all the adults allowed the pair to have sex. The parents and the boy were arrested in April last year and the boy charged with the rape of a child under 13.

To protect the girl's identity, none of them can be named.

Speaking after the judgment, the girl's mother said what had happened to her daughter was a "nightmare".

"Today's convictions will help us move on," she said. "If you have been forced into a marriage or have been victim to such sexual abuse, there is help out there. The police will help you. Do not feel frightened to speak out."

Detectives at Haringey's child abuse investigation team in Highgate carried out a "lengthy and meticulous" investigation, helped by Haringey Council children's services, the National Association of Muslim Police and the Henna Foundation, which helps women cope with forced marriages.

All four will be sentenced at the same court on December 22.

Stories for sharing on dementia

By Lucy Purdy

A UNIQUE anthology chronicling people's experiences of living with dementia has been compiled by a woman from Crouch End whose own mother battled with the "mysterious and baffling" disease.

"My mother lived a long and happy life," explained Lucy Whitman, who lives off Green Lanes.

"But when she developed vascular dementia she became very unhappy and nothing we could do would console her. She flew into rages which were very uncharacteristic and she became very paranoid. In some cases people aren't aware they have developed it but my mother was aware she was losing her grip. She said, 'I'm going funny in the head, aren't I?'"

"It was a really horrible experience." It took Lucy five years after the death of her mother Elizabeth in 2001 to begin work on the book, Telling Tales About Dementia, which was launched at Hornsey Library last Saturday.

In it, 30 people from a variety of backgrounds have told their own stories about taking care of partners, parents and friends with dementia and Lucy hopes reading the book will help others to cope with it.

"When preparing the book I realised everyone we spoke to had a story to tell," she explained. "It's something which affects so many families and I found people really wanted to talk about their experiences. It took me a long time to write about my mother but it really helped me lift the burden and celebrate her life."

She also hopes the book will address a widespread ignorance and stigma about dementia.

"It's a chilling disease because this was my mother, the person who brought me into the world in the first place," she added.

"It was a deep shock. It undermines your own sense of self because these relationships are so important to you."

Contributors will read from the book during another launch event at 3pm at Waterstones in Camden High Street on Saturday.

Telling Tales About Dementia is published by Jessica Kingsley Publishers and costs £14.99.

Lloyds TSB | Commercial

LONDON BUSINESSES LOOKING FOR CASH INJECTION TO FUND RECOVERY PLANS

With company bank balances hit hard by the economic downturn, over half of businesses in London (55 per cent) are now considering borrowing cash as they begin to plan their way out of the economic downturn.

A further 36 per cent are looking at selling equity in order to secure a funding boost while nine per cent are considering a joint venture to spur growth in the wake of the recession.

The statistics are revealed in a recent study commissioned by Lloyds TSB Commercial, which supports small to medium-sized enterprises. The study surveyed hundreds of firms across the UK over the impact of the recession and their plans for the coming months.

A total of 26 per cent confirmed that additional lending will be one of the routes to future growth while 15 per cent felt it would be the main factor in their expansion.

Richie Coulson, business development manager for Lloyds TSB Commercial in London, said: "Firms are understandably worried about what the future holds, even as we look towards an upturn.

"It's a rare business that hasn't felt the effects of this global recession in some way and companies in London are taking the first tentative steps of seeking advice and putting plans in place.

"Having finance in position to help execute a recovery plan in advance makes good sense and offers reassurance. It means SMEs in the region understand that to act quickly, gain a competitive edge in their sector or simply grow they are likely to need cash.

"The type of finance they decide to secure is important. Some companies may not want to borrow via a loan, preferring to sell a proportion of their business as equity to raise cash.

"This option can be a great way to add expertise to a company's senior management team by inviting someone with experience of a new or existing market to buy in and help guide the business.

"The joint venture figure is also interesting. It shows that following a period of economic unrest, firms are thinking about teaming up to bolster their offering or even create new products or services together."

So what steps are firms in London planning to take if they secure extra cash? According to the survey, 21 per cent believe a funding boost would help them reach new markets, five per cent want funds to develop new products and services and 17 per cent want to invest in machinery.

Lloyds TSB Commercial's Richie Coulson added: "It's encouraging that firms are talking about investing in their futures.

"Almost a quarter (22 per cent) believe an equity injection will provide the cushion they need while 19 per cent plan to turn to asset based or supplier finance to help meet existing borrowing requirements.

"This willingness to invest indicates a positive mindset from the region that the worst is over as they look towards the opportunities we believe will be presented by a reviving economy, rather than dwelling on the issues they've faced throughout 2008 and 2009."

Lloyds TSB Commercial is hosting a series of events in London offering members of the local business community the chance to hear from leading professionals about support available for SMEs and how to prepare for the upturn.

A guide aimed at company owners which contains great tips on the same topic is also available free online. See www.lloydstsb.com/supportingukbusiness for more details.

Arts, darts and a slippery trip to Oz

PUT any going-away plans on ice this Christmas and head for that hot mecca of entertainment – Alexandra Palace.

Once again, literally one of the top entertainment venues in London plays host to a variety of activities to keep the family amused throughout the festive season.

Star billing is the now-traditional ice spectacular featuring a strong cast of youngsters ranging from four to 16 years. Oz On Ice will star more than 60 children, performing alongside young adults and all of them, including 20-year-old Hannah Dolan Davies as Dorothy, are amateur skaters.

A colourful show stuffed full of laughs and “amazing” scenery aims to faithfully recreate the Wizard Of Oz story as well as being a traditional pantomime in its own right.

It runs from December 18 to 21 and times and ticket prices vary.

Other highlights over the next month include: the Antiques Collectors, 20th Century & Art Deco Fair this Sunday, while dads might enjoy the World Darts Championship taking place at what now looks like its regular home of the palace between December 18 and January 3.

However, if you are looking for something different to do tonight then Donald Mackenzie might have just the tune for you. The organist for the Odeon Leicester Square will be playing the grand organ to a couple of Buster Keaton silent flicks from 7.30pm. Admission is £7 (£5 for friends of the Organ Appeal, while students go for free). For more details of all of the above call the palace on 020 8365 2121.

Fear-inducing horror

Now showing

Paranormal Activity (15)

Starring: Katie Featherston, Micah Sloat, Mark Fredrichs

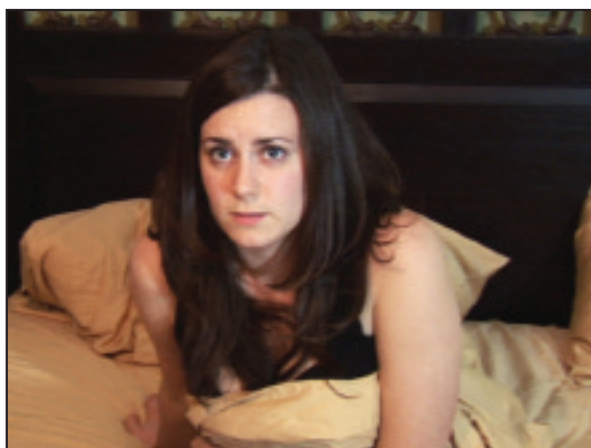

THIS is an outstanding horror which, like all the best examples of its genre, will play on your mind when you're lying awake at night.

Like Cloverfield, or the more obvious inspiration The Blair Witch Project, it's shot from the viewpoint of one hand-held camera, used to ratchet up the documentary feel and suggest this horrible story actually happened. (PA actually goes further by ingeniously tampering with the traditional opening and closing credits).

Micah has bought the expensive toy in an attempt to film the strange bumps in the night which his pretty girlfriend, Katie, has begun hearing again after a period of years.

On and off over 21 nights and days the camera captures the increasingly scary, inexplicable events that seem to originate from a malignant spirit which has followed Katie to her new suburban dwelling, resulting in a genuinely terrifying denouement that should ensure you never leave a bedroom door ajar again or mess with an Ouija board.

The genius of first-time film-maker Peli is in keeping the action unbearably tense by never leaving the house, keeping it focused on just a handful of characters, and gradually – oh, so gradually – adding more and more turns of the screw so our anxiety levels reach breaking point.

One particularly effective device is to have Micah set the camera in exactly the same position every night to record what happens.

The single, static shot, comprising the couple in bed, bedroom door open and corridor outside succeeds in playing on our most primal fears of being watched, while leaving our nervy anticipation free to expect the worst without needing to show that much.

Lately horror directors have delighted in illustrating everything through the grubby little sub-category known as "torture porn" and it's surely no coincidence the other great terror trip of the year, Drag Me To Hell, also embraced the old-fashioned values of drip-feeding the audience shocks.

Go see this intense, visceral entertainment and a demonic masterclass in dread.

By Jonathan Lovett

A Serious Man (15)

Too darned serious for its own good as the Coen brothers use their considerable talents to almost wilfully make a downbeat, reflective yet dull meditation on the meaning of life set in the 1960s Midwest.

A tranquil oasis in a hectic world. Jane Campion's reflective film beautifully captures the flourishing relationship between John Keats and Fanny Brawne before tragedy struck in 1821. Touching chamber piece of moods starring Ben Wishaw and Abbie Cornish.

Up (U)

You would be hard pressed to find such a beautiful blend of humour, sentiment and stunning visuals. An old man and a young boy fly away in a house suspended by balloons in what is certainly the animation of the year.

The Men Who Stare at Goats (15)

This lacklustre adaptation of the bestseller about the secret US army unit devoted to bizarre new-age techniques is a missed opportunity, but does have good performances from George Clooney and Jeff Bridges et al.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.

2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.

To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

(a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
(b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or

(c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.

4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

5. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

6. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

7. All gross advertising (including image and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

8. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

9. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly and the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

10. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions. 11. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

12. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.
(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 8% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

13. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

14. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

15. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

16. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

17. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers
Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies. Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category
All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data Protection
The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing detectors.

Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.

Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

TRAINEE PLUMBERS REQUIRED

Applicants can apply now for full City & Guilds plumber and Gas Safe Register (formerly CORGI) training places. No experience necessary but you must be keen, motivated and prepared to work hard learning this new lifetime skill. On fully qualifying you could join one of our associated plumbing companies.

After 6 weeks training you qualify to install complete bathrooms and, in 4 more weeks, to install central heating systems, learning in a state-of-the-art training facility, the largest in Europe. On fully qualifying you become one of the UK's highest qualified new plumbers. Contribution towards the course is required and training and employment are both subject to interview.

Plumber positions are predicted to be the hardest to fill even in 2015 and average earnings of £31,500 next year are also predicted. Secure your future, ring for an interview.

Middlesex University

Data and Programme Planning Coordinator
Institute for Work Based Learning (IWBL) – Undergraduate/Postgraduate

Starting salary: £19,657pa including LW

An interesting post based at the University's flagship Hendon campus in north-west London. You would make a major contribution to the work of the Institute by providing administrative support in a number of key areas, including:

- liaising closely with IWBL administrative colleagues and being the key contact person for student data held within the University's student database
- acting as Secretary to the Programme Approval Panel and Board of Studies
- leading in the organisation of the IWBL Programme Approval Panel including the preparation of agendas and minutes and recording the notification of decisions
- the production and maintenance of databases to record student information to assist in the generation of lists for the Admissions process and the preparation and organisation of all WBL boards.

You should:

- be educated to A level or have equivalent work experience relevant to the post
- have a proven record of administrative and organisational achievement
- be a good organiser with the ability to prioritise your own workload
- possess excellent interpersonal skills, especially the ability to communicate effectively with senior professionals, and be able to deal consistently but sensitively with the needs and problems of students
- have a high level of IT skills, especially word processing, the use of Access databases and Email.

In return the University offers generous annual leave, extensive staff development provision, and a final salary pension scheme.

For an informal discussion about this post please contact George Anglis on 020 8411 6085.

High-five:
Defoe is the most lethal of all England's strikers, according to Redknapp

CLOUD NINE

Defoe lauded as England striker bags five times to obliterate Wigan

By Lee Husson

HARRY REDKNAPP hailed Jermain Defoe as the most lethal finisher in England after a virtuoso performance from the striker in Spurs' astonishing 9-1 demolition of Wigan at White Hart Lane on Sunday.

Defoe fired home five goals in the rout to keep Tottenham fourth in the table, level on points with Arsenal, and Redknapp lauded the rampant frontman as Spurs' ran riot in the second half after leading 1-0 at the break.

"He's an amazing finisher. When you look at England strikers, Wayne Rooney is fantastic – a complete all-round player – but as a finisher, Defoe is the best out there," said Redknapp.

"I'm sure he'll go to the World Cup. Fabio Capello will see the goals he's scored, the way he's got stronger this season and is using his upper body strength a bit more and holding people off, and he will be impressed.

"This could be a great season for him." Defoe himself was quick to praise winger Aaron Lennon (inset), who put in an equally impressive display on the wing to end the afternoon with four assists.

"Aaron made the difference. When you've got someone with that pace in the team, he's so direct it's just easy for everyone," he said.

"He gets the ball, you just leave him and get in the box. Two fantastic crosses, for which I made sure my movement was right, and I got on the end of them and scored.

"For us we can't get complacent. We must go in to the next game and try and get three points again.

"Winning games brings confidence but to score nine goals in one game is fantastic for everyone."

Peter Crouch, Aaron Lennon and Niko Kranjcar also found the net against Roberto Martinez's beleaguered visitors, with an unfortunate Chris Kirkland own goal – David Bentley's free-kick striking the bar before rebounding off the keeper and across the line – completing the mauling.

Paul Scharner was on target for the Latics. Tottenham return to action when they travel to Aston Villa on Saturday (5.30pm).

Broxbourne Borough 2 Haringey Borough 1

Molten Spartan Premier Division

ROB KEMBLE'S late winner condemned Haringey Borough to another Spartan Premier Division defeat on Saturday as Broxbourne Borough secured a 2-1 win.

Kemble struck five minutes from time to snatch the points away from Tom Loizou's men, who remain in the drop zone.

Borough produced another decent performance, but were again undone by a lack of cutting edge up front.

Former striker Murat Karagul came back to haunt his old side when he broke the deadlock after 15 minutes when a fumble from keeper Yannick Nlate fell to his feet a few yards out.

Nlate redeemed himself moments later – making a brave stop to deny Karagul one-on-one.

Borough had a fair share of possession but failed to test Broxbourne keeper Obey Morefu, with Lloyd Opapa blazing a shot over the bar.

But debutant Theo Charalambous levelled the scores after the break when he drilled across Morefu and into the bottom corner.

Broxbourne piled on the pressure, but with the clock ticking down, any hopes of a point were cruelly denied as Kemble drove the ball home from close range with minutes left to seal the win.

Fountain signs for second year

Oliver Fountain has pledged his future to the London Skolars as he has been signed by the club for the 2010 Rugby League Co-Operative Championship One season.

Fountain – a former St Albans Centurion and London Broncos academy player – had his first year with the Skolars in 2009, and featured prominently in the win away against Workington Town.

And head coach James Massara was delighted to have secured Fountain's services for at least another season as the new boss builds a side to compete at the top after a miserable campaign last time around which saw the side finish some way adrift at the bottom of the table.

"I am excited to have a young, driven and talented player back in the squad for 2010," he said.

"Olly is keen to develop further this year and from our conversations he is fully aware of the challenge that this season will bring.

"I have spoken to all of the players and made them aware that we need a squad that competes not just with the opposition but with each other. That competition for places will get the best out of us as a squad.

"Olly brings pace and agility to the squad and that is exciting for any coach."
